Leonard Cleanable Refrigerator

You never thought of tracing that last spell of sickness to your refrigerator, did you? And yet it is quite possible that the blame should be placed right there. Suppose you go right now and examine your refrigerator.

Just inside of it. Come closer of a gas while digesting the grease which you have wiped into the scratches in the white enamel, into holes made for shelf supports and other cracks and crevices, or left on the uncleanable galvanized iron, and this gas is that horrible smell; but the product of their digestion is poisonous a deadly poison. Then think of the

Think of the smooth, white porcelain lining, all in one solid piece, so easy to clean. Not a crack, hole or crevice for germs to hide. Then, tomorrow, as soon as you can get down, come and see and order a Leonard Cleanable—the finest refrigerator made.

SCOUT LEADER PASSES THROUGH CITY; SAYS MOVEMENT IS GREAT

Rudolph B. Birnbaum, commissioner of the Boy Scouts of London, and a former captain in the English Army, was a through passenger on the China, which sailed this morning enroute to the Orient where he has been detailed for the purpose of making an extensive study of the organization there and to assist in the forming of more patrols and troops in the larger cities, and also to introduce the Boy Scout movement in cities that have no such organization. In making this trip, which has included many interesting places, he is more than pleased with the great success that the movement is meeting with everywhere.

"To my great regret," said Mr. Birnbaum during an interview this morning, "my stay in Honolulu is so short that no opportunity offers for a better acquaintance with the Boy Scouts of the Islands than reports afford; but to them and with all connected with the organization it may be of interest to learn that at no point in my tour around the world have I found a lack of enthusiasm for the movement."

In Canada from East to West the boys are doing excellent work and are making the best use of the time which is at their disposal for training, which is much more to the point for good intent. In Bermuda the native boys are doing good work. Inspection Day was treated as a holiday, the whole native population turning out for the parade. It is only one of the indications among many throughout the world, more especially in England, that the boys are regarded by their elders as having seriously taken up on themselves the active duties of citizenship. It is the main impression that I have received during my inspection hitherto.

"In some instances," the Scouts were not as proficient in signaling by Morse and semaphore as they should be. On these islands the importance of this part of the training is of course apparent."

"In Vancouver, B. C., I saw a wonderful exhibition of wall-climbing by a patrol that was a revelation of careful training and unexcelled ability. In Victoria, B. C., an informal meeting produced some interesting stories from the Scouts relating to their work."

"All my heart I send greetings to the Boy Scouts of Honolulu and wish them Godspeed in their efforts to fit themselves to take up the duties of citizenship in the great republic to which they owe allegiance."

DR. WEBBER IS VISITING HAWAII AS HE TRAVELS

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Dr. V. J. Webber, an oculist of long-time practice in Honolulu, is in New York for a short visit and is at the Hotel Astor where he will be until leaving on board the George Washington, of the North German Lloyd line, to attend clinics in England, Germany and France. Dr. Webber says that the delightful climate of the Hawaiian Islands almost equals a resident there for the climate of this country and the doctor is suffering from a severe cold contracted the trip here. Dr. Webber says that Honolulu is one of the most healthful places in the world and that there is very little illness there and that it is well named "The Paradise of the Pacific." He says that New York and San Francisco of this country can give great hotels, theaters and all that goes to make up a large city but that the charming home life and the social life of the Islands cannot be duplicated here. Honolulu has four fine clubs, the University, the Pacific Commercial and the Country Club, the latter having a fine golf course and links.

Dr. Webber says that Queen Liliuokalani lives very quietly and is a dignified and beautiful old lady, much beloved by the people. Sugar and pineapples are the principal products of the Islands and of the latter about 500,000 cases have been sent out this year. He says that the native feasts are a revelation to Americans and Europeans and that in cooking pig they heat stones to a white heat, wrap the pig in leaves, dig a hole in the ground and placing the stones inside the animal, cook it in that way, and that so far as the delicacy of flavor is concerned, no other form of cooking can compare with this method, and is greatly superior to the English cooking.

The population is only 11 per cent white and 89 per cent Japanese, the remainder being natives. The population of Honolulu is 82,000.

ENOUGH CHILEAN NITRATE TO LAST 400 YEARS

"And he worried about it"—such things, if you remember, as the cooling of the sun, the drying up of the ocean, the exhaustion of coal.

If he still lives he probably worries about the giving out of the Chilean Nitrate deposits. Some people do, although there is enough Chilean Nitrate in sight to last 400 years at the average rate of annual consumption. There are One Billion Tons (estimated) of Nitrate deposits and the yearly demand is only about two and one-half million tons.

In recent papers there appeared an advertisement that very strikingly shows the different method that Chili pursues for disposing of her natural resources from that which we must believe is practiced in the United States.

This advertisement announces the auction sale, on December 2, 1912, by the government of Chili, of certain Nitrate deposits. A full description of the six tracts follows, with the estimated amount of deposits and the minimum bid that will be accepted on the Nitrate of each lot.

Under such conservation we may be certain that the Nitrate deposits of Chili will not be wasted and that there will be Nitrate for the farmer of A. D. 2313. At any rate let him, not us, worry about the Nitrate deposits of Chili.

ASCH WILL STICK.
Julius W. Asch, elected to the legislature, says he is not a candidate for High Sheriff Henry's job and that he intends to stay with the position to which he was elected.

"Myrtle, can you cook?" "No, Lionel. Can you afford to keep a motor-car?" "No, dear." So they did not marry and they lived happily ever afterward.

"If you do good work your work will grow after you are gone." That's a fact. Rubens left only some 2000 pictures, but there are about 10,000 of his pictures in circulation now.
